Introductory.

We improve this opportunity to thank our numerous customers for the very liberal patronage bestowed upon us, and we trust by honorable dealings and strict attention to business to prove ourselves worthy of a still more extended patronage.

Owing to unavoidable delays and other causes, together with the near approach of the retail season and pressure of our labors, I have not been enabled to prepare and issue a complete Catalogue for the current year; but wishing to keep pace with the progress of the times, I respectfully present this Supplement to my last season's Catalogue (for 1871) to my many friends and patrons, and hoping at the same time to receive a continuance of your patronage and confidence, having made considerable improvement to my establishment, thereby increasing my facilities in growing plants to meet my increased patronage, and will insure a speedy fulfillment of all orders that may be entrusted to me. To those of our patrons who have not received last season's Catalogue, I shall be pleased to mail one, free of postage, on the receipt of your name and post-office address.

Plants by Mail.—When parties ordering plants are remote from an express office, we can forward small plants of most of the articles enumerated in this Catalogue, by mail, with safety, where the time of transit does not exceed ten days. We ship plants with safety at all seasons. We make no charge for boxes or packing.

RESPECTFULLY,

JOSEPH W. VESTAL.

CAMBRIDGE CITY, IND.

NEW DWARF POMME GRANATE,
"JAMES VICK."

This valuable and profuse blooming plant is offered the first time this season, originating from seed of the old and well-known single variety, Pomegranate Punica Granatum; is of a dwarf and very compact, symmetrical growth, producing its brilliant scarlet double flowers in quantities which are really astonishing, young plants but three months old blooming profusely; has proven itself a valuable acquisition.

Price—Strong plants, $1.00 each; $9.00 per dozen.

Young plants in 2-inch pots, 50 cts. each; $5 per dozen.

This is a new variety which has never been offered for sale before. It is a seedling from the old rose colored variety Lagerstræmia Indica. It is of a vigorous and symmetrical growth, producing its pure white flowers in great abundance, and has proven itself to be one of the most valuable and most ornamental white bedding plants known. Blooming freely from young cuttings, it is almost hardy and will keep well over winter with a slight protection. As a tub plant it is unsurpassed by any other plant.

Price—$1.50 each ; $15.00 per dozen ; fine plants.

Young plants in 3-inch pots 75 cts. each ; $8.00 per dozen.

NEW COLEUS OF 1871.

We offer the following choice selection from many new varieties of this popular decorative foliage plant. After careful comparisons, we select the following as the best:

- | | |
|--|--|
| Autumn, ground-color, bright orange yellow, center spotted with rich bronzed crimson. | Gem, rich chocolate leaf edged with green. |
| Boquet, center bronzed, purple-edged with light green. | Lustre, dark crimson bronzed center, outer edge tipped with dark green. |
| Brilliant, center brilliant crimson, yellow margin, extra. | Magnet, blackish purple, spotted and tipped with dark green margin. |
| Brightness, center crimson maroon, tipped with green. | Novelty, blackish crimson center, edged with greenish yellow. |
| Delight, large glossy green foliage, veins finely and distinctly marked with bronzed purple. | Peerless, crimson center, veined and tipped with dark green. |
| Eclipse, center crimson edged with golden yellow, singular cut, leaved foliage. | Rival, ground color of leaf pea-green, with purplish crimson center. |
| Flora, dark green, blotched purplish & crimson. | Superb, rich chocolate, shaded crimson center, with narrow green margin, |
| Fantastic, rich brown crimson, bright green center, edge tipped with crimson. | Purpurea, large bronzed purplish crimson, foliage narrow green, tipped margin. |

Price—30 cts. each; $3.00 per dozen; the set of 16 for $3.50.

Achaenia Malvaviscus.

An old and meritorious plant—succeeds well when bedded out—a profuse bloomer, blooming throughout the summer and autumn; also a fine winter blooming plant, producing its brilliant scarlet flowers at the end of every branch, succeeded by white berries changing to bright red, making at all seasons a very desirable acquisition.

Price—Large stock plants, 50 cts. each; or $4.50 per dozen.

Sale plants 30 cts. each; $3.00 per dozen.

Ageratum—Prince Alfred.

This variety is an improvement on Ageratum Mexicanum; is of a more dwarf and denser habit; the flowers are a deeper blue; it is a very fine bedding variety.

Price—30 cts. each; $2.50 per dozen.

Ageratum—Tom Thumb.

A dwarf variety, growing six to ten inches high; a free flowering sort; flowers of a coerulean blue; plant of a very compact dwarf habit; fine for front rows in flower borders; a fine bedder.

Price—30 cts. each; $2.50 per dozen.

Ageratum—White Tom Thumb.

A white flowering variety of the above; of the same dense, compact and free-flowering habit; plants covered the entire season with its bluish-white flowers; its desirable color making it quite an acquisition for cut flowers at all seasons.

Ageratum Lasseuxii.

A new rose or pink-colored flowering variety; a complete novelty, and desirable for both summer and winter bloom.

Price—40 cts. each; $4.00 per dozen.

Amaranthus Salicifolius—The Fountain Plant.

A remarkably beautiful plant of recent introduction, and will prove a valuable addition to our ornamental foliage plants. Its coloring is a most brilliant bronzed-crimson and orange, with narrow leaves of a neat, drooping habit; plant growing to a height of two or three feet.

Price—40 cts. each.

Asclepia Curassavica.

A fine winter-blooming plant, with very singularly shaped orange and red flowers.

Price—30 cts. each; $2.50 per dozen.

Anemone Japonica—Alba and Rubra.

Beautiful white and red autumnal hardy, herbaceous flowering plants, flowering in profusion during the latter summer and fall months; plant attains a height of two feet.

Price—30 cts. each; $2.50 per dozen.

Brugmansia Knightii—Fl. Pl.

A strong, coarse-growing plant, well adapted to the open border as a center plant, or for grouping with foliage plant; attains a height of two to four feet; foliage a lively green color with immense yellowish white, tubular double flowers about ten inches in length and six inches in diameter, and very fragrant, blooming profusely during the later summer months.

Price—75 cts. each.

Bouvardia Vreelandii.

This new variety, a seedling of B. Hogarth, like its parent, is a free-grower and profuse bloomer, bearing large trusses of pure white flowers, and can be readily propagated from either root or top cuttings, and has proved itself to be a very valuable acquisition as a white, winter-blooming plant for cut flowers or the decoration of the parlor conservatory, greenhouse or flower garden.

Price—50 cts. each; $5.00 per dozen.

Bouvardia Davidsonii.

Another valuable white winter flowering variety of easy culture, either from root or top cuttings. It is a highly prized and valuable sort for winter flowering.

Price—40 cts. each; $4.00 per dozen.

Begonia Discolor.

An old but somewhat rare tuberous rooted variety with large, showy foliage; stems and underside of leaves dark crimson veined, distinctly marked of a darker shade of crimson; showy and effective for baskets, vases, or as a decorative foliage plant is rarely excelled; is of the easiest possible culture.

Price 30 cts. each; $2.00 per dozen.

Cocoloba Platyclada.

A curious flat-stemmed plant, resembling a fern; fine for baskets, vases, &c.

Price—30 cts. each; $2.50 per dozen.

Cyperus Alternifolius.

A splendid plant for aquariums or for water of a grassy habit, its stem growing from one to two feet high.

Price—50 cts. each.

Centaurea Argentea Plumosa.

This lovely plant has the general appearance of C. Gymnocarpa, with much broader, plume-like, beautifully cut, drooping, silvery-grey leaves; the most beautiful of its class as single specimens or for massing.

Price—50 cts. each; $5.00 per dozen.

Cineraria Asplenaefolia.

A new, free, compact growing, white-leaved plant, useful and effective for ribbon lines or for massing, contrasting finely with other dark foliage plants.

Price—75 cts. each.
